Foreword

Once upon a time there was a school where freshmen displayed their wonder; sophomores, their wisdom; juniors, their enthusiasm; and seniors, their dignity.

This school had an enchanted room where planners planned very special spectaculars for all the students to behold. This was the same enchanted room where all good yearbooks were born.

One fine morning in September, the planners met in the enchanted room and said to each other: "It is time to plan another spectacular. The question is, what shall it be?"

Then they all began to think very, very hard. At last, one said: "Naturally, we want to plan a spectacular in Color." So they planned a Color spectacular all about the life of the school, which everyone would enjoy.

"Our spectacular should have dignity," one planner said.

"Yes," said all the others. "But we have dignity displayed by seniors every day."

"True," said the first planner. "But our problem is to create symbolically this atmosphere of dignity in our spectacular."

"I have it!" said another. "The mortar board. ... you know, the student's cap with the flat, square top and tassel!" And thus an idea was born. The atmosphere of dignity would be put into the spectacular with emphasis upon its symbol - the covered student's cap. So the planners planned ... the idea took hold ...

"Our spectacular must have sophistication," said one. "And lots of gaiety."
"And beauty," said another.

And beauty, said another.

"And always caps . . . " said a third.

"Let's see," said the fourth planner. "If we start right this minute, and work and work for the next nine months . . ."

"That's exactly what we'll have to do!" they all agreed.

So they hurried away and started calling up haberdashers who knew "how to make the cap fit any situation."

For sophistication, the popular Ivy League was perfect! For gaiety, the top hat was smooth! For beauty, the crown prized by all beauty queens was superb! The idea was well on its way . . .

And so they planned and worked and worked and planned for the next nine months. And now, at last, the coloramic spectacular for all of you who like very special spectaculars is Here-- the 1957 RAILROADER!

Mr. JOHNSON H. STEELMAN Principal

Miss LOUISE BRANNOCK Secretary

We proudly salute the administration and the faculty of Spencer High School. We are keenly aware of their ceaseless endeavors to give us the better things of life.. of their leadership that sees the emerging problems of education in a changing society. No greater service can be rendered than to serve the needs of the times—and this they do so admirably.

Knowing that the year would pass all too quickly, we made sure of those once-in-a-lifetime moments. And for the juniors, this was such a moment. With their advisors, Mrs. Elizabeth Kelly and Miss Clarine Ingold, they lay the groundwork for a climactic event of the year. An event that is as wonderfully exciting in spirit and in concept as the enthusiasm and gaiety of the juniors themselves.

Like all sophomoric wisdom, the wisdom of SHS sophomores ran true to form during the past year, leaving its imprint upon our sands of time.

Whether in the biology lab or on the football field, we knew they were there! And we were glad.

Serving as advisors for the Class of 1959 were Miss Marie Barrier, Mrs. Carolyn Baker, and Mr. Fred Holt.

The freshmen did a superb job of adjusting themselves to high school life. Under the guidance of their advisors, Mrs. Julia Slate, Mrs. Shirley Hudgins, Mr. Owen Corwin, and Mr. Curt Davidson, they have contributed much to the prestige of SHS student body. Of this we are proud!

They have entered into every phase of extra-curricular activities in the same exemplary manner they have shown in the classrooms. Their dignity and spirit have been noteworthy.

The Class of 1960 are well on their way to even bigger and better things, having already gained recognition for themselves in leadership, scholarship, and athletic ability.

Monitors

Again the Student Council is to be commended for its service to Spencer High School. Under the guidance of Mr. Fred Holt, faculty advisor, it has carried out its purposes well: to promote and encourage good citizenship, to promote strong character and self-reliance among the students, to obtain better cooperation between students, to foster better understanding of the common problems of students and faculty, to encourage a better relationship between students and faculty, and to right actions and attitudes from a high sense of honor.

The major projects of the Student Council during the past year were the Homecoming activities, White Christmas assembly, Student Patrol, and Senior Day observance.

Heading the Council for 1956-1957 were Butch Hoskins, president; Mary Mauldin, vice-president; Rebecca Wright, secretary; and Nancy Gentry, treasurer.

Dramatics Club

The Dramatics Club looked for new talent at the beginning of the year--and found it! Nine promising individuals were given the nod - and accepted,

For the second consecutive year the club in cooperation with the music department did a superb job in the traditional White Christmas program,

The three-act play, its annual presentation, was well received by an enthusiastic audience.

Miss Clarine Ingold has served as the faculty advisor, The Dramatics Club can well be proud of its year's program.

Throughout the year each edition of the HI-LIFE has left the students in a spin, but even this hasn't been sufficient praise or glory for the smudgy fingered reporters who have worked diligently to publicize S.H.S. activities and campus news,

Published by the Quill Club, the school newspaper is an integral part of our "corps d'esprit."

Much hard work and long hours on the part of the staff are required. From it all, though, comes the rewarding satisfaction of creative effort.

Mr. Edward Waugh Director

The band has marched on in full swing this year under the direction of Mr. Edward Waugh, and has become one of the finest in the state.

During the summer of 1956 band practices were held twice each week. Then on August 6, the band, along with new members, went to Summer Music Camp at Cherokee, South Carolina, for a stay of two weeks. There they rehearsed and drilled, drilled and rehearsed! The band worked on marches for football season, while the majorettes learned new twirls and new routines to add to the beauty and precision.

Adding color to all SHS football games were the entertaining half-time shows put on by the members of the band.

Traveling to two college campuses, the band participated in the homecoming games of Appalachian and Wake Forest.

Long remembered will be the Christmas concert given by the band members.

SHS is truly proud of its band and of its contribution to all phases of school life.

The over-all objective of the Monogram Club has been to keep the spotlight on the 1956-57 Sports Parade of Spencer High.

Starting off the year by sponsoring the "choo-chooing" Spencer Railroaders in football, the club concentrated their efforts to keep the pigskin in its proper focus. As the seasons changed, so did the Monogram Club, Basketball, next became their first concern. Through the support of the club the Railroaders were boosted greatly.

Then came spring and baseball! The ball that went over the fence, the bunts, and the fouls -- all came into the picture.

Football, basketball, and baseball -- each had its place in the 1956-57 Sports Parade and in the hearts of every member of the Monogram Club!

"Working Together," the motto of the FHA Club, has been the contributing factor to the success of the projects and activities undertaken by the club during the past year.

Varied, indeed, have been the projects and activities of the Future Homemakers of America. Beautiful teas and receptions for both club members and parents were given throughout the year, adding color and sparkle to the social life of SHS. With zest and enthusiasm the FHA girls carried through successfully many fundraising projects. Contributing generously of their time, they helped with the civic drives in the community. As their national project, the club helped with Civil Defense. Many of the chapter members attended the state, district, and local rallies throughout the year.

The display of Christmas gifts made by the girls and shown at their annual Christmas tea for parents and faculty was something of which to be proud.

Climaxing the year's activities, the club held its colorful and gay Spring Frolic.

Supervising all of the many and varied activities and projects is no small task. The club's advisor, Mrs. Julia Slate, always gets the task done - and with the same enthusiasm and willingness of her girls!

"What new books have just come in?" has proved to be a popular question around Spencer High during this past year. Under the guidance of the school librarian, Mrs. Julia Childress, the Library Club has ordered approximately seventy-five new books for the students of the school. The club can also boast of new literary guild subscriptions to add color and interest to the reading shelves. A new set of ENCYCLOPEDIA BRITANNICA was proudly acquired.

The club advisor and members attended the South Piedmont District Library Club convention held this year at Boyden High. A new interest was added to the Spencer High club with the election of Don Sebastian as district secretary-treasurer for the year 1957-58.

Dale Lanning Captain

When football practice began for the 1956-1957 season, Coach Curt Davidson was faced with the problem of rebuilding a team weakened by the loss through graduation of most of last year's starting team. By the time of the season opener, however, Coach Davidson, along with Coach Fred Holt, had assembled a promising group of starters. Unforseen footfalls still lay ahead to worry the SHS mentor. Injuries to key players during the course of the season caused more shifting in the first string.

Problem of Rebuilding

Chambers

Mr. Fred Holt and Mr. Curt Davidson Coaches.

Leading the way in the backfield were the pile driving fullback Ray Chambers; the shifty, speedy, little halfback Sammy Miller; the aerial wizard and signal caller Don Sebastian; and the ever dependable halfback Lanny Ryan.

The foreward wall had the biggest rebuilding task. Flanked by ends Larry Jacobs and Dale Lanning, and braced by guards Ernest Cain and Jim Nichols, tackles Bill Poole and Roy Crooks, and center David Smith, the line, although outweighed by those of most of the opposition, did an admirable job. Probably the biggest lineman who saw action was the defensive stalwart Karl Smith. The highlight of the season was a 7 to 0 homecoming victory over Landis. As usually happens on that particular occasion, the sky darkened and the rain fell.

Facing tough opposition all season long, Coach Ed Waugh's girls had a difficult time winning games. But, with a group of high-scoring forwards, and a great defense, the team won their share.

The real scoring threats were Suzie Sherlin, Betty Lou Trexler, and Nancy Gentry. Relieving the starters were reserves Ruth Long, Barbara Eagle, and Delette Ridenhour.

The guards--perhaps the best defense in several years--gave many an opposing forward a headache. "Bo Bo" Withers, Dianne Nichols, and Pegge Peacock comprised the starting unit.

"Gotta Have a Basket"

Mr. Fred Holt Coach

Off to a fast start, Coach Fred Holt's boys showed promise of a high finish in the final conference standings by knocking off several top-rated teams. After the first few games, the offense ironed out their difficulties, and became a sight to behold.

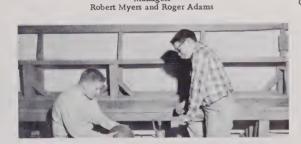

The big guns in the scoring punch were center, Fred Thomas and guards, Jim Nichols and Don Sebastian. Steady performances were turned in by Dale Lanning, Grady Wilson, and Jerry Stafford. Providing extra reserve insurance was a promising group of sophomores.

Seniors Fred Thomas and Jim Nichols were honored by their teammates by being chosen as co-captains.

New-Comers Bolster Team

Mr. Fred Holt Coach

Although several starters and reserves from last year's squad were lost, high hopes were fulfilled for the 1957 team through the acquisition of several promising new-comers. The squad went far and finished strong.

Veterans Larry Jacobs (1B), Jack Leonard (2B), and Sammy Miller (SS) bolstered the infield. Returning outfielders were Jim Rhodes and Lanny Ryan. As expected, Dale Lanning and Grady Wilson handled the brunt of the pitching chores. Reliable Jim Nichols held down the catching duties.

Girls' and Boys' State

The challenge to take up positions as full-time government officials was presented to our Boys' and Girls'
State delegates, along with delegates from other schools all over the state. Chosen for their outstanding records and leadership ability were Beverly Brannock, Jane Buie, Ruth Long, Tim Benton, Butch Hoskins, Earl Lester, Lewis Metts, and Fred Thomas.

Representatives from the four main branches of our United States government - city, county, state, and federal - presented the different phases of the work in each branch during the lecture periods.

Campaigning and election of government officials was one of the highlights of the week. This procedure was carried on just as real government elections are.

The outstanding highlight was the closing banquet. All the delegates were presented with certificates of merit for their outstanding accomplishments during the past week. Speeches were delivered by American Legion officials and the governor elected by the delegates.

Butch Hoskins

President of Student Council

Elected by the students of Spencer High as their president, Butch Hoskins has proved himself worthy of the honor.

Upon entering high school, Butch took an interest in all phases of high school life, both academic and extra-curricula. In all his activities he has given of his time freely and has worked diligently in order to effect a job well-done.

We salute Butch for his efforts to make SHS a better school for the students, the teachers, and the community.

D. A. R. Good Citizen

The coveted honor of DAR Good Citizen for 1957 went to one whose dependability, service, leadership, and patriotism have been most outstanding throughout her four years at SHS - Beverly Brannock,

We who have known and have worked with Beverly say that it is a well-deserved honor, for her dynamic energy and willing service have enriched not only our school life but also our community life.

Thus another outstanding citizen of Spencer High School will have her name added to those already engraved on the DAR trophy;

"All in their life-time carve their soul's statue."
